The screenshot displays the 'Assistant' tab in a software interface. At the top, there are navigation tabs: 'Watchlists', 'Insights', and 'Assistant'. The main content area shows a chat conversation. A system message (light blue bubble) states: 'OCI environment. Requests may be routed to another OCI region for processing. @ Language support notice'. A user message (grey bubble) asks: 'How many defaulted loans?'. The assistant's response (white bubble) says: 'The number of defaulted loans is 1,751.' Below this, a user message (grey bubble) says: 'Change Chart Type to Tile'. The assistant's response (white bubble) says: 'Here's a Tile that shows Defaulted.' followed by a visualization titled 'Defaulted' showing the number '1,751'. At the bottom of the assistant's response, there is a section 'Additional Insights' with four buttons: 'Chart Type', 'Change', 'Add', and 'Remove'. A red box highlights the input field at the very bottom of the screen, which contains the text: 'Is there a loan officer or industry that defaults a lot?'. To the right of the input field is a red circular button with a white checkmark and a close 'X' icon.
